BUILDING A FORWARD-LOOKING COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

Description:

In a fast-changing regulatory and risk environment, compliance can no longer be reactive. Companies need a forward-looking compliance culture that empowers employees, strengthens accountability, and enables the business to anticipate — not just respond to — emerging risks. This session will explore how to embed compliance into everyday decision-making, drive stronger cross-functional collaboration, and foster a culture of risk management. Experts will share how to build strategies for leadership engagement, employee training, governance, strategies for aligning compliance with innovation and business growth, and more.
