

Hudson Cook attorneys present Money Smart for Older Adults Program in Maryland

September 10th, 2019

The Maryland State Bar Association's (MSBA) Subcommittee on Consumer Credit is coordinating with a number of financial institutions to teach Money Smart for Older Adults (MSOA) in senior and community centers across the state. MSOA is an award-winning curriculum jointly developed by the FDIC and the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) which covers topics such as common types of elder fraud and scams, identity theft, scams that target homeowners and how to be financially prepared for a disaster.

This fall, Hudson Cook attorneys Catherine Brennan, Kate Fisher, Nikki Munro and Nora Udell will present the program in Maryland and the DC area in conjunction with the MSBA and the American Bar Association's Financial Services Committee. Some of the upcoming programs include:
