July 29th, 2024

HANOVER, MD – Hudson Cook, LLP, a national provider of regulatory compliance services for the financial services sector, is excited to announce the promotions of Erik M. Kosa and Eric D. Mulligan to the position of Counsel in the Firm. Their promotion recognizes these two lawyers for their exceptional commitment to the practice of law and dedication to first-rate client service.

Erik Kosa, previously a Senior Associate in our Washington, D.C. office, focuses his practice on government investigations and defensive consumer litigation. Erik has consistently demonstrated steadfast devotion to those practice areas as well as consumer reporting, information privacy and data security. His legal guidance has been pivotal for the Firm’s clients navigating the complexities of regulatory compliance.

Eric Mulligan, also formerly a Senior Associate, has been a key player in the Firm’s Maryland office for years. His regulatory compliance practice focuses largely on state laws in the areas of consumer mortgage lending and personal property financing, but Eric has also focused his practice on the complexities of credit math. His careful approach to both the credit math and the regulatory compliance counseling practice have given great value to clients and their regulatory compliance programs.

“We are very pleased to acknowledge the outstanding contributions of Erik and Eric to the Firm and our clients with this promotion. They have excelled in their respective areas of practice and been important to the Firm’s success in advancing our client-first mission,” said Chuck Dodge, Managing Partner at Hudson Cook. “Their promotions are a testament to the quality of their work and to their commitment to serving our clients.”

Erik and Eric are acknowledged for their dedication and professional achievements, which have contributed to the firm’s growth and reputation in the legal community. They have authored numerous industry publications and actively participated in key legal and trade associations, continually promoting Hudson Cook’s standards of excellence.

We congratulate Erik Kosa and Eric Mulligan on their well-deserved promotions and are excited to see their continued impact in their new roles as Counsel at Hudson Cook.
