

Hudson Cook Partner Rebecca Kuehn to Testify Before U.S. House Committee on Financial Services

June 5th, 2025

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Washington, DC – June 6, 2025 – Hudson Cook, LLP is proud to announce that Partner Rebecca Kuehn will testify before the U.S. House Committee on Financial Services on Thursday, June 6, 2025, at 10:00 a.m. ET.

The hearing, titled “Examining Consumer Privacy: Protecting Americans’ Financial Data,” will explore the legal and regulatory landscape surrounding consumer financial privacy. Ms. Kuehn was invited to provide testimony that will inform lawmakers on the structure and protections of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA), with a focus on how the law governs the handling of sensitive consumer financial information by regulated entities.

Ms. Kuehn’s testimony will be designed to help the Committee better understand the existing privacy framework established by the GLBA. Hudson Cook is honored that Ms. Kuehn was invited to share her deep experience with consumer financial privacy before Congress. Her participation reflects the firm’s ongoing commitment to supporting thoughtful regulation that protects consumers while enabling innovation.

The hearing will be livestreamed at 10:00 a.m. ET and can be viewed here: Watch Live

About Hudson Cook, LLP

Hudson Cook is a leading law firm focused on consumer financial services, privacy, data security, regulatory compliance, and litigation. With attorneys in offices across the country, Hudson Cook helps clients navigate federal and state regulations to build compliant, forward-thinking businesses. Learn more at www.hudsoncook.com.

Media Contact:

Bryan Lawson
Marketing
Hudson Cook, LLP
blawson@hudco.com