

Non-Prime Times publishes Eric Johnson's article, "What are your Repossession Agents Doing?"

May 14th, 2019

In this month's Non-Prime Times, Partner Eric Johnson addresses a disturbing practice in the repossession industry – repossession agents placing GPS trackers on vehicles out for repossession, without the knowledge or consent of the owner.

Repossession agents or employees who do not get the owner's consent before the GPS device is installed on a vehicle would be at risk of violating various state laws. The repossession company may also be in violation of its agreement with the secured party/creditor. Eric cautions that consumer plaintiff attorneys could likely file suit for violating his/her client's privacy by installing the device without the client's knowledge or permission.

Eric is the chair of the NAF Legal Committee and will be speaking at the upcoming Non-Prime Auto Financing Conference on June 5-7 in Plano, TX. Click here to read Eric's monthly article on page 3, or visit the NAF website for more information about the conference.

Hudson Cook, LLP provides articles, webinars and other content on its website from time to time provided both by attorneys with Hudson Cook, LLP, and by other outside authors, for information purposes only. Hudson Cook, LLP does not warrant the accuracy or completeness of the content, and has no duty to correct or update information contained on its website. The views and opinions contained in the content provided on the Hudson Cook, LLP website do not constitute the views and opinion of the firm. Such content does not constitute legal advice from such authors or from Hudson Cook, LLP. For legal advice on a matter, one should seek the advice of counsel.